SR University is committed to upholding gender equity as a core value across all aspects of campus life. The university promotes gender equity and sensitization through various initiatives, curricular and co-curricular activities, and comprehensive facilities for women on campus.Women representation is a priority, with women holding significant administrative roles such as Dean, Registrar, Head, Associate Dean, and Associate Head. Girl students are also actively included in various university committees, ensuring their perspectives are represented in governance.

An annual Gender Audit is conducted to identify areas for improvement, and the university takes necessary actions based on the audit's findings. Gender sensitization is integrated into the curriculum through ethics courses covering topics like professional ethics, gender sensitivity, and social responsibility. These courses prepare students to become responsible professionals who respect and promote gender equity.The university organizes regular talks, webinars, and workshops on gender-related topics to raise awareness and encourage discussions. These sessions, led by experts, empower students and staff to promote gender equality in their personal and professional lives.

Safety and security are top priorities at SR University. The campus features an e-surveillance system with strategically placed cameras, ensuring continuous monitoring. Security personnel are stationed around the clock at campus gates and common areas to maintain a safe environment. Separate hostels for boys and girls are available, with dedicated women residential wardens for the girls' hostels. Biometric systems and a gate pass approval process ensure secure and monitored living conditions for female students.SR University offers robust counselling services, including a mentoring system for personalized support. Female students have access to a dedicated female counsellor twice a week, providing specialized guidance. The Health Centre on campus, staffed by a qualified doctor and nursing staff, includes a separate room for female students, ensuring readily available medical care.

The university maintains a safe and respectful environment, free from harassment. A Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) committee addresses sexual harassment issues, handles complaints, conducts inquiries, and organizes sensitization programs. A grievance redressal cell with complaint boxes in every department ensures prompt attention to student concerns.

SR University celebrates women's achievements and promotes women's empowerment through various initiatives. Women's Day is celebrated every March, featuring talks by accomplished women. The campus gymnasium offers dedicated timings for female students, ensuring access to fitness facilities in a comfortable environment.Equal opportunities are provided for all students in placements, co-curricular, and extracurricular activities, including NCC, NSS, and various student clubs. This inclusive approach ensures that all students, regardless of gender, have opportunities to excel and develop their skills.

Through these comprehensive measures, SR University fosters an environment where gender equity is a lived reality for the entire campus community.
