Event Description:

SR University successfully organized an insightful Guest Lecture on Field Craft and Battle Craft (FCBC) and Communication, led by PI Staff Nb Sub Prajeesh, Hav Arif from the 1(T) CTR NCC Battalion. The event was conducted under the guidance and supervision of Associate NCC Officer Lt. A. Rajeshwar Rao and Training Officer Hari Babu, ensuring the program's effective execution.

The session focused on developing essential military skills related to FCBC, such as camouflage and concealment, movement techniques, observation, judging distances, section formations, and field signals. In the Communication segment, cadets were introduced to basic principles of military communication, including types of communication equipment, radio protocol, message writing, and signal transmission in field conditions.

Cadets participated with great enthusiasm, engaging in interactive activities and hands-on exercises to enhance their understanding and application of both FCBC and Communication techniques. The session emphasized the practical importance of these subjects in building discipline, coordination, quick decision-making, and effective leadership in field operations.
